

Vendors:

Joe Collins' Dulcimer

Joe Collins, a former dulcimer builder and National Mountain Dulcimer Champion, represents New Harmony Dulcimers with whom he has been working for several years. In addition to dulcimers, he carries his own books, CDs, working-class capos and other items important to the avid dulcimer player.
<https://www.jcdulcimer.com/>
Email: dulciman@bellsouth.net.

David Fox Hog Fiddles and Such

Dulcimers designed to reflect their Appalachian heritage, with a modern look & a contemporary visual appeal. He also builds to custom orders, including banjos and mandolins. Contact him to design your own personalized instrument.
Email: hogfiddles@hotmail.com

Tom Irving

Tom creates unique items for the Mountain Dulcimer, Ukulele, and even the Bowed Dulcimer. He has helped Dulcimer Folk around the world enjoy making music with the best instruments made! Possum Pads, Uke Pads, Bowed Pads, Neater Noters, Tom's Noter Cubes, Dulci-Wrests, Perfect Picks, and single strings are all available.

www.facebook.com/people/Tom-Irving-Creates/100086273433088/
Email: tom468strings@yahoo.com

Bernd Krause

For over 44 years building traditional dulcimers as well as unique custom built designs.
<https://www.facebook.com/KrauseInstruments/>
Email: berndjkrause@earthlink.net

Dwain Wilder
Bear Meadow Appalachian Dulcimers

Dwain Wilder will again bring tools, materials and a workbench to the festival, equipped for repairs, refits and other mountain dulcimer work during the weekend. Schedule your needs with Dwain early by emailing dwain@bearmeadow.com. Be sure to mention "Dulcimer Work Needed" in the subject line to get into the schedule. And there may be time for last-minute requests also, depending on scheduled requests.
<https://www.bearmeadow.com/>

Snack Table –volunteers

Workshop Leaders
Sales Table